Feast of the Most Holy Trinity

Last Sunday, Pentecost celebrated the outpouring of the Holy Spirit. A strengthening of faith to live as active believers sent forth into the world. On The Most Holy Trinity Sunday, strengthened by the Spirit, we are exhorted to embrace the Father, Son and Holy Spirit, the source of all faith's mysteries. Inaccessible by our human intellect, attempting to discern The Most Holy Trinity with reason numbs the synapses of our brain, in trying to capture the enormity of the pondering skewed in infinity of dimensions. Less than two pages of the missal, highlights salvation history's encounter and attempt to articulate The Most Holy Trinity. A God that stood with Moses to proclaim a disposition to mercy and graciousness, slow to anger and rich in kindness and fidelity. Confronting the fiery furnace for refusing to bow down and worship the idolatry of human lures, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego glorified and blessed God exalted above all forever, for all ages, for the Son of God walked the journey with them. (Daniel 3:92) Out of love for the world, God ultimately gave His only Son, a merging of the divine with humanity. A gift, of eternal redemption, dispelling condemnation to be celebrated in fellowship with Holy Spirit.

With The Most Holy Trinity, who is, who was and who is to come (Alleluia scripture: Revelation 1:8), the Alpha and the Omega brokers all time and place. Our acceptance of belief in the mystery of The Most Holy Trinity, calls us to rejoice, as we experience liberation from the hollowness of idols beckoning. A rejoicing from not entrenched in striving for unattainable perfection of a sin free existence that can choke one's ability to live a compassionate, caring life seeking reconciliation and unity with our brothers and sisters to mend one's ways and live in peace. Peace with others and a profound peace of conscience knowing it is not about our futile self-absorbed trying, but accepting The Most Holy Trinity's gifts with open hands, so what we receive, we can freely give. For life is not an avoidance of dealing with humanity, but offering our commitment to resolve spoken and unspoken ceasing from aggression and dominance towards a posture of peace flowing from our encounter with the ultimate mystery of The Most Holy Trinity.
